Date of last EC blood/urine test and result
Has your rabbit ever been suspected to have clinical signs of EC?
Date and length of last Fenbendazole treatment: Panacur/Lapizole 28 days or longer 9 days This medicine offers protection/treatment for worms and EC. If you have requested that your rabbits' free range on Caroline's grass you may wish to treat with Panacur before, during or after their boarding stay as precaution. Cocci, worms and EC can be transmitted via urine/faeces. Uneaten caecals can be a sign of cocci or worms. A simple faecal examination for around £60 can conclude concerns either way. Cocci is treated with Septrin or Baycox. Rabbits known or suspected to have active EC, worms or cocci will not be allowed on grass. These parasites are common but rabbits with compromised immune systems are more likely to be affected.
Please describe your rabbits personality
Please describe your rabbits feeding regime
Caroline will recommend any changes and make an individual care plan if required
Please describe any specific dietary or special requirements for your rabbit
Please list any ongoing medicines your rabbit is currently taking, including dosing and timings

On admission, all rabbits will receive a health check by Caroline. Caroline holds a qualification from City and Guilds in the safe use and management of Veterinary Medicines that provides training in many aspects including recognising signs of ill health. Caroline has over 25 years' experience with rabbits but states clearly, she is not a qualified vet.

It is at this point that any outstanding or new health concerns should be discussed and the current state of health of the rabbit(s) agreed between both parties. If you (the owner) are not present, they will be informed of the outcome of the assessment in writing. Caroline's qualification also covers the correct storage and administration of medications. She will happily administer any medications prescribed by a registered veterinary surgeon, which have been recorded in the admission form with consent from yourself (the owner).

Should the initial check over raise any concerns, or if there are any changes to your rabbit's condition during their stay, Caroline will discuss the prospect of taking the rabbit for a veterinary consultation with Caroline's rabbit specialist vet.

Sarah Pellet, Byre Veterinary Surgery, 32 Papyrus Road, Werrington, Peterborough, Cambridgeshire, PE4 5BH

If Sarah is not available, and your rabbit urgently needs to see a vet for emergency care, alternative out of hours vets and other practices are available more locally to me, but will only be used if the rabbit's life is in danger and the problem can't wait until owner returns or Sarah is available.

Should my rabbit require emergency veterinary attention during its stay I give permission for Caroline to take him/her for a veterinary consultation and act as an agent at the above vet choices if I am not immediately contactable. The cost of this veterinary consultation is around £55. If the named rabbit, after veterinary examination requires emergency first aid, treatment and/ or medication I give consent for this to be administered up to an initial cost of £150. If after this emergency veterinary consultation it is deemed that the condition does not require immediate treatment, I understand Caroline will try to contact me before arranging any further medications or diagnostic tests. Should my rabbits condition change during his/her stay that raises concerns with Caroline but would not be considered an emergency, I understand that I will be contacted prior to any veterinary consultations and treatments.

I understand that I will be expected to cover any veterinary costs and that this should be settled with Caroline asap, or preferably paid direct to vet on day of treatment. Caroline will not be allowed to leave vet practice until bill paid. It is a legal obligation for consent to be gained prior to any non-emergency treatment. I also understand that although Caroline doesn't charge for her time taking rabbits to the vets, there will be a fee of 45p a mile to cover travel expense.

R.O.S.S is located within Caroline's home. It is a two-bedroom maisonette flat with two gardens. Accommodation choices are for each bonded set of rabbits to have one room to themselves. They can live as part of the family in either a bedroom or kitchen or dedicated bunny room depending what suits. There are also 4 outdoor holiday homes available. Rabbits can free range in the garden if consent is given. The owner makes an informed personal choice to use the grass areas and can view all accommodation. You may wish to treat rabbits with panacur to protect against worms and EC before, during or after holiday boarding. Rabbits with uneaten caecals or poor body condition are advised to get a faecal test done to check for coccidiosis which is easily treated. If Caroline has cause for concern, that rabbit will not be allowed on grass. (YES/NO) TO USE GARDENS/GRASS.

All rabbit housing is cleaned regularly to ensure good hygiene and comfort. I have viewed the accommodation and/or have received an adequate description of the facilities and consent to the named rabbits to be boarded there for the duration established on the admission form.

Unless specific dietary requirements are otherwise stated above, rabbits boarding with Caroline will receive a healthy diet of daily fresh herbs/greens, wild forage, Supreme Science Selective and continuous access to good quality hay and bowls of water.

I understand that in the event of a rabbit not being collected on the pre-determined date, for any reason, without discussion with Caroline, after a period of 14 days the rabbits will be handed over to a suitable rescue centre/become the property of ROSS.

As the owner, I take full responsibility for leaving the named rabbits at Rabbit Owner Support Services (ROSS) for boarding, behaviour/bonding or nursing for the pre-determined, listed time period.

I understand that Caroline will not be held responsible or liable for any unforeseen circumstances that arise during their stay or on their return home.

I understand that I will be expected to settle all outstanding payments on collection of the named rabbits

I understand that Caroline and any veterinary staff involved with the care of my rabbit will act in his/ her best interest, with special reference to emergency situations if I am not immediately contactable.

After completing the above admission forms, I am happy that the information provided to ROSS is correct and sufficient to provide my rabbit with appropriate ongoing care during their stay.
